

Communications

Communications between the Client and this Firm are ordinarily subject to the attorney/client privilege and/or work product privileges of state and federal law. Only the Client can waive this privilege. However, disclosure of our communications to others may constitute such a waiver.

By executing this engagement letter, the Client agrees and consents to the Firm and the Client communicating by e-mail. We do take caution with our e-mail communications to maintain the confidentiality of such communications, however, since such communications are transmitted through the Internet, there is no guarantee that such communications may maintain their confidentiality. If for any reason, the Client does not wish for us to communicate with the Client and its representatives by e-mail, please so notify us immediately in writing.
