Q & A with Nathan Meloon

Nathan Meloon is an associate with Widerman Malek, P.L. in Melbourne, Fla. and provides a full range of litigation services to businesses and individuals. He focuses on the areas of land use and development, real estate, local government law, employment law, and property rights protection.

Prior to joining Widerman Malek, Meloon was the Director of Policy and Government Affairs for the Melbourne Regional Chamber and the Deputy Legislative Affairs Director for the Florida Department of Environmental Protection.

A graduate of Florida State University, Meloon earned his juris doctor from FSU College of Law in 2017. He completed a legal externship in the Brevard County Attorney's Office. He also served as an intern for the Florida House of Representatives for both Rep. Seth McKeel, chair of the House Appropriations Committee, and Rep. Eric Eisnaugle, chair of the Civil Justice Subcommittee.

Nathan Meloon and his wife, Hannah, share the joy of some beach time with their daughter, Margaret.

Q: Before becoming an attorney, what was your first job?

A: My first job was detailing boats and cleaning the facilities at my family's dealership. I started doing it in high school and continued during college summers. It taught me the value of a hard day's work and the importance of working with efficiency.

Q: What motivated you to pursue a legal career?

A: I grew up watching my father and grandfather run a business and I was always interested when they involved their legal team for transactional and litigation issues. From a young age, I knew I wanted to be involved in the legal field.

Q: Who was your chief mentor and how did he or she influence your career?

A: I have been fortunate to have many influential people throughout my life that have guided me to where I am today. From legislators, judges, and experienced attorneys in the community and at my current firm, I have seen examples of what it takes to be successful both in my career and as an individual.

Q: What's the best piece of advice you've ever received?

A: Don't apologize for high standards.

Q: What is one thing you would like to learn to do?

A: Speak another language, as I'm currently working on my Spanish for an upcoming trip to Spain.

Q: What is your proudest career achievement?

A: Gaining the confidence as a young attorney to argue dispositive motions and first chair trials.

Q & A with Nathan Meloon

Q: What other career path might you have chosen?

A: I have degrees in finance and political science. I have always been interested in politics and business. There is no specific career that comes to mind, as I have known since I was a young kid that I wanted to pursue law.

Q: What do you do to give back to your community?

A: I participate in various community groups and church events in my community. My firm supports a charity called No Bad Days Foundation that provides life enhancing medical devices to those who are unable to acquire them. Another service organization I enjoy is Tied Together, a group of men from the community that teach boys from local public schools how to shake hands and tie ties.

Q: Can you share a positive referral experience within Primerus™?

A: Representing the brother of a fellow Primerus™ attorney on a personal matter. Knowing the client came from Primerus™ created good rapport from the start.

Q: What is your most treasured material possession?

A: While some may question whether it is a material possession or a member of the family, I have to say my 5-year-old Whoodle (Wheaten Terrier, Poodle mix), George.

Among the finishers of the annual Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C. last fall, Nathan already is making plans to enter another 26.2-mile race in the coming year.

At mile marker 17 of the Marine Corps Marathon, Nathan paused long enough for a photo with his family cheering section.

Q: What is your happiest childhood memory?

A: Growing up my family would spend summers in the Adirondack Mountains. I would spend the days fishing, swimming, golfing, hiking, boating, and exploring the history of the area. Those mountains will always hold a special place in my memories, and I cannot wait to take my family there to experience the beauty.

Q: What is your favorite movie and book?

A: Movie: "Elf"

Book: Anything by John Grisham.

Q: What is the most awe-inspiring place you have visited?

A: My wife and I recently took a trip out west to hike the national parks in Utah and Arizona. Zion Canyon National Park in Utah immediately took my breath away. The magnitude of the landscapes was like nothing I have ever seen before, and it was incredible that it exists in the U.S.

Q: What are your favorite leisure time pursuits?

A: In my free time, I enjoy spending time with my wife and daughter; running, golfing, and fishing. I recently ran my first marathon and I'm itching to start training for my next.

Q & A with Nathan Meloon

Q: What is your favorite famous or inspirational quote?

A: “Success consists of going from failure to failure without a loss of enthusiasm.” -Winston Churchill

Q: Who is on your guest list for the ideal dinner party?

A: George W. Bush, Mike Norvell (Florida State University head football coach), Matt Wilpers (Peloton instructor), and Winston Churchill, which should make for interesting conversation.

Q: What are the top three items on your bucket list?

A: Explore the beaches of Normandy, D-Day beaches. Play golf at a major championship course. Run the New York City Marathon.
